Key School, Living Classrooms Foundation and Washington College Join SustainaFest Founders Group

Annapolis, MD - SustainaFest is pleased to announce three new members of our Founders Group. Key School, an independent K-12 school based in Annapolis, Maryland, is founded upon the conviction that children are innately curious about themselves and the world; they want to learn, they want to discover, and they want to create. Living Classrooms Foundation is a Baltimore-based organization that strengthens communities and inspires young people to achieve their potential through hands-on education and job training, using urban, natural, and maritime resources as “living classrooms.” Washington College ranks among the nation's premier liberal arts colleges and is located on the scenic Chester River in Chestertown, Maryland.

"We are thrilled that these leading educational institutions have chosen to join our select group of Founders in this inaugural year of our Festival," stated George Chmael, President and CEO of SustainaFest. "Students around the country are leading the charge toward a more sustainable future and Key, LCF and Washington College are committed to innovation and action as they educate and train the individuals whose vision will shape that future."

“SustainaFest will open up the world of sustainability to our Living Classrooms students and students throughout the region,” stated Scott Raymond, LCF’s Vice President of Education. “They are the ones who need to lead the way to a renewed approach to the challenges we all face. This is about giving them the knowledge and the tools to make a difference.”

Join the celebration - and ongoing conversation - on what we can all do to create a healthier, more prosperous, and sustainable Chesapeake Bay region. To learn more about SustainaFest, our events and activities, please visit www.sustainafest.org or email us at info@sustainafest.org
